COVERS RICHEST GOLD AREA IN CALIFORNIA

Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

We had been thinking that the United States held about half the tangible wealth of the world, including a little more than half of the world's visible gold supply. After reading "India of the Princes," we shall have to revise this opinion. For centuries some of those princely houses have been amassing precious stones — diamonds, rubies and emeralds. We would not at all be surprised if, at face value of those jewels, the Indian States did not possess greater wealth, than the gold buried at Fort Knox and in various Federal bank vaults.

The trouble with gems, however is this: If any single Indian prince attempted within a short time, to cash in, that is, sell his accumulation of gem treasures for gold coin of any realm, the market would rapidly drop. But sold gradually over a term of years it is quite possible that present price levels for jewels might be maintained.

The vast accumulation of precious stones in the treasuries of Indian States has interesting connotations in the present conflict in Europe. "India of the Princes" recites the loyalty and the immense contributions of the princes to England in the last World War. Regiments were outfitted, and indeed armies, and sent by the Indian potentates to assist the Allies. Cash contributions of millions were raised for the British Raj.

There is a tendency abroad, as was the case in the last war, to underestimate the resources of Great Britain. A tentative estimate of the amount that Great Britain and France, can raise for the sinews of war in the next few months is four billion dollars both in cash on deposits in this country and in securities held by the French and British investors. We are prone to forget that the resources of India, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Canada and lesser odds and ends of a far-flung empire, are also at the call of Mother England in distress.

Today it rather looks as if President Roosevelt will obtain the repeal of the arms embargo in the present neutrality law. If this happens, no doubt the cash and carry provision that lapsed last May will be re-enacted. Now we come to a consideration of the danger which Congressman Harry Englebright pointed out in this newspaper prior to his departure to Washington, D. C. That is, when our factories are in high gear, turning out war materials at 100 per cent capacity, and that capacity is readily expanding to meet ever increasing foreign demand, that the allies will run short of money for the cash and carry program. The allies need not try to borrow money or secure credit from Uncle Sam. The manufacturers will attend to that by besieging Congress to guarantee Allied credit. Senator Johnson calls attention to this prospect in event the arms embargo is raised. He fears pressure will be brought to lift the ban imposed by the Johnson law on loans or credits to those nations which have repudiated, in effect, their debts to this country.

But when we consider resources of Great Britain and, of France too, we wonder whether in the World War or in the present war, there was, or is, any real need for these two countries to borrow money. We wonder whether, if put to it, England would not in someway or another have raised the necessary cash, without recourse to loans from sympathetic and wealthy Uncle Sam. In the last war, it was, of course easier and quicker to borrow from our innocent Uncle.

In this war it will be very, very much more difficult to pry loose any loans from Uncle Samuel. In the lending business he has come of age. He has heard Debtor England call him "Shylock" when he insisted on being paid for goods and services used and rendered in the last European emergency. And certainly Congress should see to it that, if the embargo on war materials is lifted, that the cash and carry provision is strictly enforced. Furthermore our manufacturers should not be permitted to advance a penny's worth of credit to the nations at war. If that is forbidden, there will be no pressure to amend the Johnson law.

Incidentally, if the Federal Government wished to be a little hard boiled, there is an excellent opportunity now provided, to ask part payment of the World War loans of both England and France. Their possessions in the New World are not sufficiently valuable to wipe out their World War indebtedness. But a proffer to cede them to the United States as part payment, would at least show a better spirit than hitherto manifested. It would seem to be a comparatively easy step for Great Britain to take, since her West Indies and British Guiana are crown colonies, and could be ceded, provided the inhabitants thereof did not raise too much objection.

ROTARY VIEWS FILM STORY OF VISIT TO EGYPT

Moving pictures of Egyptian cities, pyramids, streets, tombs and the temples were shown on the screen yesterday at the Rotary luncheon, by W. E. Wright, attorney, who with Mrs. Wright recently returned from a seven months world tour. In the two reels shown were packed several volumes of information regarding the cradle of civilization, as the Nile Valley is often called. Horace Curnow was chairman of the day.

Prefacing his exhibition with a brief talk, Mr. Wright said he not yet completed cutting the films, but spectators agreed that the two reels of Egypt depicted most satisfactorily the Egyptian "way of life." The ancient method of lifting water by bullock or donkey power, on water wheels fitted with buckets of an age-old pattern, the pyramids some of them damaged by later generations of Christians who used the stone to build their own structures, the tombs that are reached by means of a shaft similar to those of our mines, extending below the surface for 50 to 250 feet. At the bottom of these shafts are cut the chambers for the dead. On the walls of these underground tombs are paintings that still retain their color.

The only mummy remaining in his tomb is that of Tut-Ankh-Amen. The mummies of other noted pharaohs have been removed from their tombs and are now in the great museum at Cairo.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright enjoyed the ten-day boat trip up the Nile to the Assouan dam, largest in the world. Along the route Mr. Wright took pictures of the great Temple of Karnak, tombs, sphynxes and monuments of ancient Egypt. But with all these, he also secured views of the fellaheen, the people who labor, their costumes, their beasts of burden, principally camels and donkeys, the conveyances, often similar to those depicted on the walls of kingly tombs, painted 3,000 to 5,000 years ago.

Pictures in color of the great pageant in the wide streets of Cairo on the occasion of the marriage of an Egyptian princess to the ruler of an Arabian kingdom, were especially fine.

LATE RAY HAYS BORNE TO REST

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon for the late Ray Hays aged 71 years, who passed away Monday afternoon after a brief illness. He was a native of Oxford, Ill. He came to Nevada City in 1903, and was a prominent business man here until retirement about twelve years ago. He took an active part in lodge affairs and held the highest offices in the Masonic and Elks lodges. Surviving him is his devoted wife, Mrs. Maude Langman Hays to whom he was married in 1912.

Nevada City Lodge of Masons conducted funeral services and funeral arrangements were made by Holmes Funeral Home. Pall bearers were: P. G. Scadden, James Colley, T. W. Richards, Ernest Schreiber, Alfred Reynolds and Joseph Huy.

Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen has had modern photographic equipment installed in the local sheriff's office for taking pictures of prisoners. Deputy Sheriff Fred Williford will be in charge of the department.

FINES FOR GAME LAW VIOLATORS

A. H. Willard, captain of the fish and game commission, returned Wednesday from El Dorado county where he had gone with A. W. Sears to investigate hunting violations. Frank Carman who was arrested August 12 for possession of venison in closed season had a hearing in which the jury hung the case. On Wednesday another jury found him guilty and he was given 60 days in jail. Robert Linville and Charles Garner, arrested for killing deer out of season and hunting with a flashlight, were each fined $250.

NEW HOSPITAL WILL BE MODERN IN ALL DETAILS

The hospital being built in the southern part of Nevada City by the Newmont Mining company is well under way and it is hoped to complete it by January first.

Gilbert deBack is foreman of construction on the job and is assisted by Mr. Allen. About twelve men are employed. Nearly all the main floor, partitions and framework are now placed and some side wall has been raised along the front of the structure.

There are thirty two rooms on the ground floor including baths; the second floor will have five rooms and a living room for nurses, this section will be in the rear and give a splendid view of the whole district about the city; the rear ground floor will have six rooms and laundry and the boiler rooms. This is a seventeen bed hospital. On the first floor will be ten rooms for patients, surgery, scrub up, X-ray, therapy and laboratory all on one side of the corridor. On the street side will be a public waiting room, general office; two doctors offices while in the rear will be the kitchen and dining rooms.

Robert Hendricks, superintendent of the Murchie and Zeibright mines in this section, has made a very careful study of equipment for the new hospital.

The foundations for the building are concrete and the superstructure will be finished in stucco. All windows in the building will be steel and the plumbing equipment the finest obtainable.

Along the state highway the walk will be set back 20 feet so that there will be space for about twelve cars to park giving room for visitors machines. The parking space to the north of the building will be used by doctors and nurses.

The grounds about the hospital will be graded and planted to grass, shrubbery and trees. The new building will be a splendid addition to the city and also affirms the faith the mine company has in the community as a gold producer.

Yesterday afternoon the Alpha Hardware company of Nevada City was awarded the plumbing and heating contract for the new hospital. About fifty pieces of plumbing fixtures will be supplied, all of the vitreous china. This vitreous china is the highest grade plumbing obtainable.

TWO WOMEN WIN HUNTING LAURELS

Nevada City women are making a record for themselves this year in killing bucks. Mrs. James Cornell, who killed a big deer shortly after the season opened, was lucky again Wednesday when she brought down a three pointer near Lake Vera. Mr. and Mrs. Al Silva were with her and Silva carried the big deer to the car for this little woman who has had such good luck hunting. Mrs. Al Silva while hunting with a group near Alleghany killed a two pointer Monday.

LARGE BUCK KILLED

Lauren Lane, Grass Valley garageman, killed a four point black tail buck in the You Bet section early yesterday morning. It tipped the scales at about 160 pounds. This is one of the largest killed this season. Lane is a brother of Dick Lane of this city, who still has many unfilled promises to supply friends with venison.

ROAD DELEGATES OFF TO SACTO. THIS MORNING

The Chamber of Commerce is assured of a representative delegation from this city and from along the Downieville road, Alleghany and other interested districts, to go to Sacramento today to plead with the State Highway Commission for an improvement in the Downieville road.

The delegation headed by H. F. Sofge, secretary of the Nevada City Chamber leaves this morning at 8:45 o'clock from the National Hotel. For years past the Chambers of Commerce of Nevada County and the civic organizations of Downieville, Alleghany, Grass Valley and Nevada City, have beseiged the State Highway Commission to at least take out the dangerous curves and grades in the Downieville highway. The hazards to school busses that ply the road are a constant source of anxiety to parents and school authorities.

While small appropriations have been made in the past, most of the money has been spent on the north side of the north fork of the Yuba, leading into Downieville, and while there is now a modern piece of highway from the bridge over the North Fork into Downieville, pleas to have the rest of the road between Nevada City and the North Fork have been made in vain. All citizens that can join the Chamber delegation today are urged to do so. For numbers do impress administrative bodies and do influence their thinking.

Among those who signified their intention of going to Sacramento this morning are R. J. Bennetts, Frank Finnegan, H. F. Sofge, Carl Starkey, Lou Kopp, Robert Nye, Bill Williamson, C. C. Bratcher, C. A. Robbins, R. J. Berggren, John W. Darke, and Emmett Gallagher all from Nevada City. From San Juan, W. E. Moulton, Mrs. Amelia Cunningham and G. H. Peterson are coming, and from Log Cabin, Charles L. Wilson.

PEACE OFFICERS AND WIVES WILL DINE

Nevada-Sierra Peace Officers Association will present one of their more notable meetings tonight, with ladies as guests at a dinner party arranged for the Heidelberg Club on the Grass Valley-Nevada City highway.

Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock and in addition to the dinner, business meeting and probable speaking, there will be other social diversions.

This afternoon the peace officers will engage in a pistol shoot at the Dew Drop Inn range, which will have some unusual quirks. The range committee has arranged for a special sort of shoot, and while details are not divulged, it is said that the side arms handlers will find plenty to test their skill.

TURKEY RAISERS O. K. EARLY THANKSGIVING

DAVIS, Sept. 28. — President Roosevelt's decision to make Thanksgiving Day come a week earlier this year will not make things difficult for California turkey growers in the opinion of Dr. V. S. Asmundsen, head of the division of poultry husbandry on the Davis campus of the University of California.

According to the College of Agriculture expert, a large percentage of California turkeys are fitted for the early market and will be ready in ample time for the Thanksgiving rush. The bulk of the remaining birds do not reach the market until after Christmas.

In fact, says Asmundsen, the shifting of the Turkey Day date may be a small boon to turkey growers in that it will start the traditional turkey eating season a week earlier than usual.

MASONIC LODGE TO SIT DOWN TO BUCK STEW

Nevada Lodge, F. & A. M., will confer the third degree on a candidate next Wednesday evening in the hall. A buck stew, prepared by Fred Garrison, Sr., will be served at 6:30. Masons their wives and members of the Eastern Star are invited to attend the buck stew. The ladies will play cards after the dinner. Mr. Garrison is famed for his buck stews and a delicious dinner is anticipated.

County Fair Opens In Grass Valley Tonight

The second annual fair of Nevada County opens this evening at 6 o'clock in the Veterans Memorial building, Grass Valley. There is a tremendous increase this year in the number of entries and the promise of good weather indicates that crowds visiting the fair will greatly exceed those of last year.

Entries have been so numerous that Wednesday and yesterday five clerks were hard pressed to record them. Last night Loyle Freeman, manager of the fair, stated that all was in readiness for the opening this evening.

The horse show, the most spectacular feature of the fair, has been advanced from 1:30 Sunday afternoon to 1 o'clock, to give fans an opportunity to attend the Dwight Moore benefit ball game, which has been delayed to 3 p. m. of the same day at Watt Park.

Horse show fans will have a second opportunity to attend, for the show will be given at 7 o'clock Sunday night. The class of entries is larger and better than last year, and that show brought the plaudits of everyone who attended.

Exhibits will be housed in the Veterans Memorial Building, with the exception of poultry, which will be housed separately.

The horse show will be held at Hennessy Field, to the rear of the veterans building.

Included in the displays and exhibits will be poultry. Agricultural exhibits will include every variety of truck garden crops, as well as forage plants. The horticultural display, expected to be more extensive than last year, will include all kinds of fruits, chiefly featuring varieties of apples, pears and plums.

The community booths exhibits are expected to reach a peak of development at this year's fair, with a far greater list of entries already received by the committee in charge.

Mineral and mining displays will also be featured, as they were last year, and a wider field of entries has been received.

Domestic science dispays will find a prominent place in the exhibit pavillion, with a much larger response having been received from local residents and housewives who are proud of their accomplishments.

The flower show is aso expected to be more extensive, especially with a good crop of blooms reported generally throughout the county.

Arts and crafts will be featured with displays of quilts, bedspreads, embroideries, knitting, crochetting, needle point work, weaving and rug making.

The horse show will again feature a long list of fine horses from stables all over the state, as well as from the state of Nevada. Jumpers, three-gaited horses, five-gaited horses, stock horses, polo ponies, draft horses and local cow ponies and pets will be featured.

Sonny Moore and his horse and dog will also be present to entertain the horse show crowd.

Tevis Paine, who conducted the horse show in such an excellent manner last year, will again be in charge.

Judging and awarding of ribbons will be completed by Saturday morning.

Aileen Merrigan, of Nevada City, pupil at the Thais O'Rourke Studio of Dancing in Grass Valley, will participate in a dance and performance feature to be presented at the Nevada County Fair Saturday evening. Other numbers will include a jazz dance routine by Marion Richards, and a very difficult rope dance by little Dolores Sullivan.

Nevada City people are asked to look for this fine entertainment feature.

WOMEN MAY BE CALLED TO FILL PLACES OF MEN

BERKELEY, Sept. 28. — Repercussions of the European war already are beginning to be felt in the California employment field, says Miss Vera Christie, manager of the University of California Bureau of Occupations. In the face of uncertainty, many firms are curtailing hiring, or conducting job analyses to discover in what positions women may profitably replace men during a national emergency.

As yet, she pointed out, the efforts are not to be considered alarming, but are to be thought of only in relation to other factors which, with employment, affect the business barometer.

"When I speak of hiring being curtailed," Miss Christie said, "I do not mean that as yet the level of all hiring has dropped. Indeed, in some cases it has risen following the opening of hostilities in Europe. But I do mean that those jobs scheduled to be filled have not yet been filled because of doubt and the fact that should war come they would immediately become vacant again."

The drop, therefore, has hit the so-called white collar man the hardest, as it is his position that employers find to be a risk if filled under present conditions. In the field of skilled and semi-skilled labor, with present orders in heavy industries increased, employment may rise for a time, but even here applicants are being rejected if they know only one field. Personnel managers today are most desirous of obtaining men who can be changed from job to job; also, inquiries stress the age and abilities of the wife and children to be listed as a source of future employment. Engineers are another exception, the demand being greater than it has been for several years.

Champion Circle Thimble Club is preparing for a public card party on Thursday evening, October 5. A turkey will be given as a door prize. Whist, auction and mah jongg will be played. Mrs. Peggy Flynn is chairman of the program.

NEVADA COUNTY CELEBRATES ITS OWN APPLE WEEK

L. G. Lageson, county horticultural commissioner, announces that beginning today, Nevada County is celebrating its own Apple Week. Tomorrow will be Apple Day at the county fair, with a display of this splendid fruit, which Lageson says, will "knock your eye out."

Grocers are specializing in Nevada county apples this week. Jonathans, Winter Bananas, Pearmains, Bellflowers, Winesaps, King Davids and many other varieties will be on sale and the subject of window display. The superiority of Nevada county apples both in beauty and eating and cooking qualities will be amply demonstrated at the county fair, the commissioner states. There will be several hundred boxes of apples and pears, of all varieties, shown, as well as many other of the county's luscious and beautiful fruits.

This week, according to Mr. Lageson, is the time when everyone who can do so, should lay in a winter supply of the best eating apples in the world.

DANGER OF FOREST FIRES IS NOT OVER

According to E. L. Stone, fire dispatcher for the Tahoe national forest, the rainfall over the forest averaged about three fourths of an inch, the rain being spotted. Some areas received only a trace and others a downpour. Practically all the guards and lookouts are on a two or three day leave having earned the holiday during the busy season just passed. They will all be back on duty Sunday The forest service is receiving calls for burning permits but will not issue more of them until another storm arrives as it is thought the moisture is not yet enough to prevent fires.

Fool's Gold

This address was made three years ago last month. In the light of world events today, it needs to be read again:

The Congress of the United States has given me certain authority to provide safeguards of American neutrality in case of war.

The President of the United States, who under our Constitution, is vested with primary authority to conduct our international relations, thus has been given new weapons with which to maintain our neutrality.

Nevertheless—and I speak from a long experience—the effective maintenance of American neutrality depends today, as in the past, on the wisdom and determination of whoever at the moment occupy the offices of President and Secretary of State.

It is clear that our present policy and the measures passed by the Congress would, in the event of war on some other continent, reduce war profits which would otherwise accrue to American citizens. Industrial and agricultural production for a war market may give immense fortunes to a few men; for the Nation as a whole it produces disaster. It was the prospect of war profits that made farmers in the West plow up prairie land that should never been plowed, but should have been left for grazing cattle. Today we are reaping the harvest of those war profits in the dust storms which have devastated those war-plowed areas.

It was the prospect of war profits that caused the extension of monopoly and unjustified expansion of industry and a price level so high that the normal relationship between debtor and creditor was destroyed.

Nevertheless, if war should break out again in another continent, let us not blink the fact that we would find in this country thousands of Americans who, seeking immediate riches—fool's gold—would attempt to break down or evade our neutrality.

They would tell you—and, unfortunately, their views would get wide publicity — that if they could produce and ship this and that and the other article to belligerent Nations, the unemployed of America would all find work. They would tell you that if they could extend credit to warring Nations that credit would be used in the United States to build homes and factories and pay our debts. They would tell you that America once more would capture the trade of the world.

It would be hard to resist that clamor; it would be hard for many Americans, I fear, to look beyond—to realize the inevitable penalties, the inevitable day of reckoning, that come from a false prosperity. To resist the clamor of that greed, if war should come, would require the unswerving support of all Americans who lave peace.

If we face the choice of profits or peace, the Nation will answer—must answer—"We choose peace." It is the duty of us to encourage such a body of public opinion in this country that the answer will be clear and for all practical purposes unanimous.

(President Franklin D. Roosevelt, at Chautauqua, N. Y., August 14, 1936. Reprinted from Vol. V. President's Public Papers and Addresses, pp. 290-291.)

Ham and Eggs Threats

From all parts of California have come reports that "Ham and Eggers" have been blacklisting business houses and the newspapers, threatening to boycott them if they dared oppose the old age pension plan.

Today one of their number dared to come into this office, object to the wording of a paid advertisement and threaten to make the writer eat all similar items printed in the future.

This, then, is to serve notice that we will not be influenced by any threats of bodily harm, or any other lousy blackmailing schemes, which, we are confident, are not sanctioned by the many fine old people who have been misled into supporting the "Ham and Egg" movement.

Courier-Free Press and The Searchlight are being run for the best interests of all the people.

We believe that "Ham and Eggs" is a vicious scheme that would ruin the state of California and not help the deluded old people.

Because we are convinced of the enormity of the "Ham and Egg" menace, we are going to do everything in our power between now and election to awaken the voters to this serious situation and see that they go to the polls Tuesday, November 7, and vote an emphatic "NO" against "Ham and Eggs"—$30 every Thursday for Life." —Redding Courier-Free Press.

DAVID LAWRENCE URGES CONGRESS KEEP IN SESSION

Since the outbreak of the European war there has been a great deal of talk about adjourning politics and national unity. The question requires close examination and serious consideration.

In response to an inquiry from the United States News, a weekly periodical of fact and opinion published in Washington by David Lawrence, asking whether in the present conditions politics should be adjourned, the writer made the following answer:

"If the word 'politics' is to be construed in its invidious sense of seeking narrow and selfish partisan advantages at the expense of national welfare, most assuredly 'politics' should be 'adjourned' not only under present conditions but under all conditions at all times.

"But if 'politics' means, as Webster defines it, 'the theory or practice of managing or directing the affairs of public policy,' most emphatically it should not be adjourned, but instead should be a subject of quickened interest on the part of the people of the United States and their duly elected representatives.

"War itself, or even the threat of war, is a far more dangerous enemy of the processes of representative government than any of the many alien 'isms' which seek to vex and subvert our democracy. When war begins, the democratic processes, to a large extent, end.

"The very fact that our country now faces a grave situation is all the more reason that there should be frank, open and courageous consideration of our problems by the representatives of all elements of the American people. Especially in any situation involving the grave question of war, the people of this country have a right to be heard.

"Most of the ills from which this nation is suffering today result from an adjournment of politics in the emergency of 1933 and the abdication of Congress of its constitutional right and duty to legislate fearlessly and independently for the people. Under the stress and strain of those times, Congress on the plea of emergency turned over many of its powers to the Executive. To those powers the Executive has held tenaciously, although the emergency which they were created to meet long since has ceased to exist. The result has been to clamp down upon the American people the hardships of a temporary depression as a permanent way of living.

"Nothing in recent years has been more heartening for the American people than the beginning by the first session of the Seventy-Sixth Congress in taking back those delegated powers in an effort to restore sanity in economics and democracy in government. Nothing could be more disastrous for the American people than another abject surrender of its power by Congress at a time when it has just begun to reclaim them.

"The most pressing problem before the American people today is how best to make their universal desire to keep out of war. Their representatives in Congress would be faithless to their trust if they shirked their responsibility to consider and discuss dispassionately this problem and dodged the issue by blindly following Administration leadership. Indeed, the greatest assurance this country has against becoming involved in the war is for Congress to remain continuously in session for the duration of the European conflict.

"And let it be remembered that in times like these, there is no cheaper nor more reprehensible form of politics than to accuse as unpatriotic those who hold a difference of opinion based on sincere conviction because they refuse blindly to follow a leadership with which they disagree.

"If adjournment of politics is to mean unconditional agreement with the administration, then the welfare of this nation demands that there shall be no such adjournment. It demands that our government shall continue to function as a government of checks and balances among the Executive, Legisative and Judicial branches. This is the only way, after all, to bring about a real and practical 'coalition' government under the American system. By all means, let us have national unity but let it be national unity not behind any individual but in support of American institutions.

"The real test of democracy is whether it can function wisely and efficiently in times of stress or whether under such conditions it must surrender its principles and convert itself into a bureaucracy or a despotism. Those who now ask this surrender are proclaiming their lack of faith in the democratic processes of representative government. Happily, the faith of millions of Americans in the efficacy of the democratic process remains undimmed, even by the dark clouds of war abroad."

UNCLE SAM WON'T TAKE BOGUS HAM AND EGG MONEY

State wide farm organizations are acutely suspicious of Governor Olson's announced plan to appoint a special state board to investigate farm wages And if the farm groups conclude that the governor intends to use his office in an attempt to force unionization of farm labor, watch out for fireworks! Since "Grapes of Wrath" and other inflammatory pieces, California's Good Providers are a bit touchy about attempts to spot them as public enemies—and Olson's commission, if it makes any anti-agricultural gestures will be blasted from Redding to El Centro.

Don't try to pass off wooden nickels or Ham and Eggs funny money on your Uncle Sam: he wants real American mazuma. Uncle, despite all you've heard about him, is a pretty sly old fellow—and when the new RFC re-financing contract was written on the San Francisco bay bridge, he slipped in a clause requiring that the bridge tolls be paid in "legal tender." The Golden Gate bridge, however, would have to take 30-Thursday warrants if the scheme was enacted—and the directors are plenty worried!

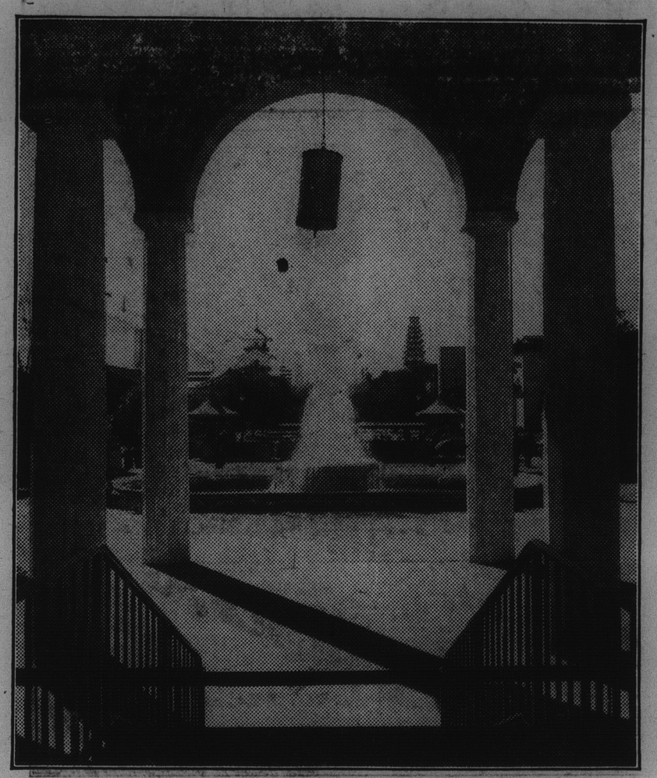
Pillars of West at S. F. Fair



Pillars of the entrance to the Hall of Western States at the Golden Gate International Exposition frame the sparkling fountain in the courtyard. In the background may be seen the pagoda towers of the Japanese pavilion (left) and the Netherlands-Indies pavilion (right). Exhibits of the 11 western states inside the hall portray the colorful history and progress of the West.

FARMERS RESENT OLSON'S COTTON WAGE INQUIRY

FRESNO, Sept. 28.—Terming the proposed state conducted cotton wage hearing in Fresno next Thursday "a rally for radicals and a Roman holiday for people loafing on relief at the expense of the people," individual cotton growers and leaders of farm organizations in the five San Joaquin Valley counties recommended to all farm groups today not to participate in the hearings.

Drafting a strong letter to Professor R. L. Adams, temporary chairman of the committee, the group of farmers' meeting at the Californian Hotel recommended that all farmers and farm organization representatives receiving invitations to the hearings reply by sending this letter declaring the hearing illegal and dangerous to agriculture.

Frank Stockton praised at the meeting at which growers expressed their belief that radical groups such as the Workers Alliance and others will pack the meeting to continue their tactics of smearing California's farmers in an effort to disrupt harvests.

The letter as drafted by the growers and recommended to individuals and organizations receiving invitations to the hearing follows:

"Professor R. L. Adams
University of California
Berkeley, California
Dear Sir:

This will acknowledge your invitation to participate in a hearing to be held in Fresno Thursday by a board appointed by the governor to determine; 'The prevailing wages and conditions being offered —for cotton picking this season and to consider possible recommendations concerning changes for this labor operation during the current season.'

The state is not authorized by law to set wages, and therefore is neither qualified nor prepared to enter this field. The last legislature refused to pass a law giving the state the right to fix wages for the very good reason that the state cannot also fix the price the producer is to receive for his products.

There is no need for a board to meet to determine the prevailing wages and conditions for cotton picking. The base price of 80c per 100 pounds is well known and is so generally in effect now throughout the valley that there is no question on this point. Neither is there any question concerning conditions other than wages as these are well known and are the same as have generally prevailed each year.

Because of the illegality of a hearing by the state to fix wages and because of the lack of any need to hold a hearing to find what the prevailing wages and conditions for cotton picking are, the farmers can find no reason for the hearing and therefore can find no basis for participating.

The cotton harvest is in progress under prevailing conditions. There is an ample supply of willing workers who are making good wages under these conditions. Wages are the highest in the United States. The demand for a board to hold hearings was an organized campaign of men who are not picking cotton and don't want to work at any wage. These include men idling on relief and who would rather find an excuse to stay there than work, the Workers' Alliance, C. I. O. organizers, Communist organizers and others who would like to disrupt the cotton harvest.

The hearings you are about to hold will give aid and comfort to these groups and will cause rather than prevent labor difficulties and violence. The hearings will be a rally for the radicals and a Roman holiday for people loafing on relief at the expense of the people instead of looking for work."

RECRUITING IN FULL SWING AT S. F. PRESIDIO

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28.—A marked acceleration in Army enlistments has been noted all over the Army's eight-state ninth corps area, and the campaign to bring the Army up to its authorized peace time strength under recent Act of Congress and the Proclamation of the President is meeting success, according to an announcement released today at headquarters Ninth Corps Area. Each month's enlistments are showing a marked increase over the preceding month as the recruiting efforts get into full swing.

The applicant of today has a wide choice of branch and station, it was pointed out by Major Charles C. Quigley, Corps Area Recruiting Officer. He may make application for enlistment at the most outlying recruiting office and be assurred of the same choice of branch and station as were he making application at a recruiting office in any of the larger cities.

Recruit depots are filled to overflowing with applicants sent in by the forces in the field, Major Quigley said, and prompt shipment to the station selected is promised. Current orders are to the effect that the new recruit will not be held for a period longer than seven days at the place of enlistment. For those who select foreign service assignments, Army transports are sailing on schedule to carry these men to their oversea stations.

The quotas for the air corps and anti-aircraft units seem to be the big drawing card, the Major said. Here-to-fore men were usually placed on waiting lists for these services and sometimes it was many months before they were called.

Miss Mamie Fenton returned recently from a three weeks vacation in the bay district. She visited relatives and friends in Berkeley, Oakland, Richmond, Hayward and San Francisco and went to the fair.

ALASKA TO CAPE HORN HIGHWAY MAKES HEADWAY

The dream of a connected system of highways extending all the way from Alaska to the lower reaches of South America has been brought a step nearer realization by a recent meeting of United States and Canadian officials, reports the California State Automobile Association. The meeting was the first formal conference on construction of the Canadian and Alaskan segments of the hemisphere spanning route. Studies are being continued, with the United States represented by members of an Alaskan International Highway Commission.

Already there are small sections of highway in Alaska connecting with Fairbanks, and a road including part of the old Caribou Trail extends far north into British Columbia. The present terminus of the British Columbia road is at Hazelton and the major problem, both of construction and financing, is to fill the gap across the wilderness of the Yukon Territory and into Alaska.

Meanwhile, development of the Mexican and Central American sections of the international highway is making steady progress. Mexico has completed a new highway from Laredo to Mexico City, and improvement of a route through western Mexico to modern standards is under way.

The United States has cooperated in surveys for a route through the Central American republics from Mexico to Panama. In South America extensive sections of highway already built will fit into the international highway project.

FORMER NEVADA CITY FOLKS

A group picture in the Arcata Union of persons showing awards being made for a recent soap box derby in Arcata had two principal figures that were of interest to people in this city. The editor of the Arcata Union, Gordon Hadley and a grandson of Mrs. Clara Scarfe of Boulder street was presenting first prize to Donald Wilson, 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Wilson, all formerly of Nevada City. Mr. Wilson taught in the local high school and resigned to become head of the commercial department of the State Teachers College in Arcata where he has remained ever since.

CHARGES ILLEGAL REGISTRATION OF MANY MIGRANTS

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 27.—Migrants are becoming voters—many of them illegally.

That was the statement today by Thomas W. McManus, Bakersfield, Secretary of the California Citizens' Association, who warned newcomers to this state not to register without first determining whether they have lived in one community long enough to be bona fide voters.

"Numerous instances have been called to my attention where non-resident migrants have been encouraged to register to vote in the special election November 7," McManus said This is a misdemeanor and subject to a $500 fine and imprisonment.

Calling attention to several recent convictions in Kern County for illegal registration, McManus said that investigations were being pushed which might reveal startling conditions.

"Registration in the Central Valley counties shows how fast the migrants are becoming voters—how many illegally we do not know—but the increase in registration is not normal.

"While San Francisco shows an increase in voters of about 1 per cent since 1936 and Los Angeles of 4.67 per cent, Madera county added 35.87 per cent, Merced 23.82 per cent and Kern County 22.40 per cent.

In other counties where the influx of migrants has been concentrated there has been a similar increase in registration. Kings County shows 15.51 per cent, Tulare 15.91 per cent, Stanislaus 15.32 per cent, Mariposa 9.55 per cent, and Fresno 7.44 per cent."

McManus said that the migrants, most of whom come from Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Missouri, have brought to California with them a moral and political philosophy alien to California.

"Any intelligent approach to the migrant problem must recognize that many of these people are here to stay," he continued. "Unless we educate these migrants and their children in the constructive way of thinking which characterizes our economic and social outlook, our free institutions are doomed"

HUNTERS SURPRISE WOLF

Last Sunday a hunting party composed of Elisha Curtis, Clemente Henwood and Joe Muscardini were resting after climbing to a high promontory and glanced down a deep canyon to see a huge timber wolf stalking its prey. As the wolf, which was fully as large as a shepherd dog, crept stealthily along Curtis shot, but the bullet struck behind it throwing up dirt and rocks. It sprang into the air and streaked up the opposite mountain side amidst another group of hunters. But they failed to see it.

DICTATORSHIP SURE IF U. S. IS INVOLVED IN WAR

(BY THE MAN IN THE STREET)

Make no mistake about it, economic dictatorship will be the first deveopment if we get involved in this war over European boundaries.

Last January President Roosevelt urged legislation against profiteering and "for the equalization of the burdens of possible war." Five measures, reported out by the House Committee on Military Affairs at the last session, would have the effect of permitting the President to commandeer all the nation's resources, fix prices and rents and, in general, take complete charge of the economic system. This is going much farther than anything done during the World War. Just about the time that war ended, the War Industries Board was preparing to put into effect an "agreement" with the shoe industry, under which we would have been able only three classes of shoes, grades A. B. and C, at prices ranging from $3.50 to $10.50. No others could be sold.

The legislation now proposed would take up where the War Industries Board left off—and not even an "agreement" would be necessary.

We asked a man the other day if he was in sympathy with the "objectives" of the New Deal. "Well," he told us, "if human welfare is their chief objective, as they say it is, I think that getting the unemployed millions of people back to work would be the highest type of humanitarian effort. But, after seven years of trying, they don't seem to be doing it. Sometimes I think the real objective of the administration is to change this system of government, to take over business—and I'm not for that!"

Now Washington reports that literally millions of "Social Security" cards cannot be identified sufficiently to make it possible to pay you or me what is coming to us—if ours are among the jumbled cards. This is due mainly to a "decentralization" plan for old age pension records, in the course of which they were hopelessly messed up.

Previously we had to absorb the painful news that all the money paid into the government by working people for this same "Social Security" is being otherwise spent. Not a thin dime has been put away, and, when the benefits come due, we shall be taxed all over again to pay them.

First they spend the money—then they muddle the records so we can't get paid anyhow. It isn't very "social" and it certainly isn't "security." Just what is it we are paying for?

A California manufacturer has just met up with what he calls "another cock-eyed miscarriage of a New Deal proposition." It seems that under the Unemployment Compensation Law, sponsored by the Federal Government and administered by the states, many college boys get summer vacation jobs and, after they have quit and gone back to school, file a claim for unemployment compensation. This business man had a case in his own factory, in which the boy's folks were in good financial condition; so it appeared that the boy just wanted a little extra spending money, out of the taxpayers' pockets.

Moreover, says this man, when such a summer vacation employe files for unemployment pay, the law prescribes that the employer may be penalized for "excessive labor turnover." Naturally, if this racket keeps up, employers will shun school boys entirely.

JOHN GHIDOTTI JR. HOME FROM PHILIPPINES

John Ghidotti, Jr., superintendent of the I. X. L. Mining company in the island of Masbate of the Philippine Islands group, arrived in Nevada City Monday for a visit with his parents, brothers and sisters, having left here four and a half years ago. He is on a four months leave of absence. One thousand men are employed in the mine which is operated by the Soriano Interests in the Philippine Islands.

The mine is paying dividends. Gold, silver and copper are being mined. Iron ore in the district is shipped to Japan and a huge chromite deposit is being investigated by the United States. The metal is in demand in time of war.

There are 7,000 islands in the archipelago and on the Island of Masbate the temperature is 85 degrees most of the time. Great humidity in this tropical section makes that temperature uncomfortable and clothes often mould unless aired often.

Ghidotti had engaged passage for a world tour planning to go to Singapore and on to Genoa but the declaration of war in Europe changed his plans.

He took passage on a big Swedish freighter, M. S. Canton. While in mid-Pacific the ship ran into the hurricane that hit southern California. Wavse 40 and 50 feet high broke over the ship which headed straight into the storm at half speed for safety. The boat was thrown about like a cork. Sideboards were placed about the tables and the tables were fastened to the floor in the dining room. Ghidotti spent several years in Chile and Peru holding responsible positions with mining companies there.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder at the aptitude
With which I take advice;
You may remind me once, you know,
You'll never have to twice.
And when I'm asked to scan a verse,
A news line or a measure,
I do so with celerity,
And also ease and pleasure.

I wonder why good advice is so often disregarded: it would be much better for us all if we recognized its true value and acted upon it without hesitation. Just now I am considering this trite generality and proceeding accordingly.

In a letter which bears no signature the writer rather sharply advises me to procure a copy of the measure titled Ham and Eggs and gather necessary information therefrom.

I have had this interesting measure upon my desk for some time now, but after receiving this suggestive letter, I remembered that the only way to properly make up one's mind is to study both sides of a question seriously, impartially and without prejudice. So the two members of our household took up the measure and went into a huddle over its bizarre contents, with the result, that we are still "agin' it."

The Ham and Eggs movement seems to be a bold and brazen attempt upon the part of its instigators, to seize control of the state government, liquidate state institutions, paralyze industry, and set up a dictatorship modeled in many ways upon those which have enslaved the bodies and minds of vast populations in lands beyond the sea.

As stipulated in this measure we are to vote upon November seventh, it will, if passed, place one man in immediate control and he in turn will appoint the ones who will take over and administer the fantastic and utterly ruinous scheme. We had better be careful Californians. Listen to the really impressive voices raised against Ham and Eggs and vote it forever out of existence.

I now beg to rechristen this preposterous scheme, Sham and Dreggs—Sham money which can never be successfully used and the bitter dregs of disillusionment, disappointment and suffering.

"A million people can't be wrong," cry the deluded proponents of Sham and Dreggs, but a million people—even two and three million people, have often been wrong, as a glance at the pages of history will readily disclose. On the other hand many men condemned this fantasmagoria of unworkability; it will be wise to listen to their authoritative voices and give grave consideration to their utterances.

Uncle Silas says: "Hitler has done well by himself during the past few years. He didn't ride to the front in a glass case while the last world war was in progress.

Her husband has secured a fine position with the Mountain View mine near Gerlach and left here a month ago. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson came from Arizona six and a half years ago and purchased a home in this city. Since then he has been in the employ of the Newmont mining company. Mrs. Peterson took an active part in several lodges in Nevada City. Both have made many friends who regret their departure but extend best wishes.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By BARBARA PHARISS

The Nevada City Yellowjackets will have their second contest this year Saturday afternoon at 2:30 with San Juan high school of Fair Oaks.

The 'Jackets showed up well at their first game with Roseville and having had more practice they may win. Coach Frantz is well pleased with the boys' work. Most of them are out for their first year. The whole squad will probably be used Saturday.

The high school is trying to organize a good rooting section and all students are urged to come out to the game. The public is very welcome. The boys play better when there is a large crowd rooting for them.

If weather permits, the high school band under the direction of Mr. Ralph Smith will make their second appearance.

CAMERA CLUB

Many students seemed to be interested in photography and as there is no class to study it, Mr. Hobbie has plans of organizing a camera club very soon. The students in it would have a good time and learn much to their advantage.

GIRLS LEAGUE

The Girls League held their first meeting Tuesday afternoon. Margaret Odegaard, the president, elected for this year, took charge. The girls planned for a dance to be held sometime in October. They will hold another meeting soon to plan a dance and ways of earning money.

A new study has been introduced this week. It is French III taught by Mr. Burke. At present there are only two students taking this course. It will be a helpful course for students majoring in languages in college, or studying music.

"STANLEY AND LIVINGSTONE" HERE SUNDAY

"Find Livingstone!"

Exactly 70 years ago this October 16, James Gordon Bennett barked these words at his crack reporter, Henry M. Stanley.

It was apparently the most hopeless assignment in journalism. No one but a mad man would brave the terrors of unknown Africa to hunt for a missionary-explorer from whom no word had come in two years.

How Stanley found Livingstone, how the world called the newspaperman "the most colossal liar" of his age, and how he later became the greatest hero of his era, is the story of the 20th Century-Fox picture, Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "Stanley and Livingstone," shows Sunday and Monday at the Nevada Theatre.

Darryl Zanuck's movie version of this historic journalistic coup has the speed of a contemporary newspaper drama, the substance of history. Stanley's 500 mile plunge into the wildest jungles of uncharted Africa is graphically and thrilling told.

Heading the imposing cast is Spencer Tracy, winner of two awards who plays the role of Henry Stanley. Lovely Nancy Kelly who rose into the front ranks of moviedom with her part in "Jesse James," and handsome Richard Greene, who in a year's time has become one of Hollywood's top romantic stars, are starred with Tracy.
